COMMISSIONERS' REPORT

In accordance with the Public Statutes of the State of New Hampshire the Commissioners of Carroll County submit their annual report together with the report of the Superintendent of the County Farm and of the various other County Officers.

The past year has been the quietest in all respects since the Board of County Commissioners has been in office.

All kinds of relief were at a new low figure which, of course, made less work for those administering these aids. Direct aid was needed regularly by only a few cases, and all of these were aged or infirm people. Many of the dependent children whose board was being paid by the county found jobs and were self supporting through last summer, and quite well into the fall. Even the Old Age Assistance money was not all spent, as many dependents earned enough money to care for their older relatives.

Things went well at the Home, under the continued good management of Superintendent and Matron Severance. Their greatest worry was the help situation, but most of the workers there are high type people who realize that not too much is gained by running around after a better job; and their loyalty was rewarded by a ten percent increase in pay December first.

Of course it is a known fact that there is a shortage of graduate nurses, and they could not be found for the County Hospital. Consequently that part of the institution just had to be closed in the fall. This situation not only is inconvenient, but it is rather expensive, since bed patients now have to be sent to the Huggins Hospital in Wolfeboro for treatment.

Worthy of mention is the fact that a ton and a half of butter was made in the dairy during the year by Mrs. Abbie Riley, who at the present time is the cook at the Home.

Bangs Disease, which was a great source of worry last year, has been brought very nearly under control during 1944, and only five creatures were condemned during the year.

A program of vaccination of the young stock is carried on, and sixteen heifers have been treated already. This practice makes the animal practically immune from Bangs Disease.

The number of inmates and boarders in the Home has not changed much since our last report. The men's part is practically full and there are eleven women in the Brick House.

This introduction should make some mention of the Carroll County Jail since much publicity was recently given it in the press. It is the opinion of the Commissioners, as well as members of the Delegation, that this advertising was uncalled for. Conditions are no different in the jail than they have been in recent years, and there are no complaints, even from the men who are confined there. The check up was by a federal woman inspector, and very few county jails measure up to federal requirements; neither is it necessary. Carroll County does not have the hardened criminal. In fact, during the past ten years there has been but one federal prisoner confined in the Carroll County Jail, and he for a very short time. The chief complaints, as reported by the inspector, were poor beds; the letting of men out to wash in a common lavatory; the keeping of books in their cell lavatories, and the lack of a recreational program. The discussion about bedbugs was entirely fictional, and Delegation Chairman Harold Hart was present with the inspector and corroborates this fact.

EDWIN B. EDGERLY,
PERCY F. GARLAND,
E. FORREST LEAVITT,
Commissioners.

REPORT OF COUNTY PHYSICIAN

During the year 1944 there were eleven deaths and no births. Deaths were due to diseases incident to old age.

There were no contagious diseases and no epidemics.

Due to the inability to procure adequate help, it was deemed advisable to close the hospital to cases requiring highly skilled nursing care, until the shortage of nurses is alleviated.

The morale of the workers and the patients has been of the best and is to be highly commended.

Much credit is to be given to the superintendent and matron for their untiring effort and devotion.

Respectfully submitted,

FRANCIS J. C. DUBE, M. D.
